EXCLUSIVE! . . . EXCLUSIVE!Government lies hide the real annual cost of asylum scam:

£4 BILLION, AND RISING!

Kurdish 'refugees' are now arriving on the coast of France by the shipload. Their ideal end destination? Soft Touch Britain, say the French police - and do nothing to stop them coming here!

The asylum scam is costing Britain's hard-pressed taxpayers more than £4 Billion a year. This huge total dwarfs the estimate provided by Home Office Immigration Minister Barbara Roche when she put the cost at £600 million, or even the revised figure of £835 million that the Government came out with when its ridiculously low first estimate was torn to pieces by Tory MPs and the press.

Unfortunately for the British taxpayer, Tory MPs and the right-wing papers are way off course. They've managed to underestimate the true cost of the asylum scandal by a factor of five! Put in the simplest possible terms, for every £1 they've told us Blair & Co are taking out of your pocket to give to the bogus refugees, the truth is that they're taking £5.

The full scale of the rip-off can only be unearthed by going back to a front page report in the Sunday Times on 7th June, 1998: "Asylum tide costs Britain £2bn a year."

The huge total cost was worked out by including not just the direct costs admitted to by the government, but also "the burden on local authorities, which have to provide housing and education, the National Health Service and the legal system, which pays for lengthy appeals and judicial reviews when asylum claims are rejected."

And since that was the cost for 'just' 34,000 asylum applicants in 1998, you've got to double it to get the cost of dealing with the 70,000 who applied here in 2000.

This means that the staggering £2.1 billion estimate for 1998 must now stand at a minimum of £4.2 billion for 2000.

And that's only for the new arrivals awaiting 'processing'. Once their claims have been dealt with and they've either been accepted or re-

The Voice of Freedom says ...

ANOTHER COVER-UP!

Yet another Asian-on-white racial murder. Yet another police and media cover-up. On the evening of 8th March, two young Portuguese students studying in London were chased by a gang of Asians into Shadwell station on the Docklands Light Railway in East London.

One of the lads was severely beaten, the other was thrown under an uncoming train and killed. The police are treating the incident as murder but, as is so often the case when the victim is white, have denied that there was any racial motivation.

The few remaining whites in this part of London, however, know differently. In recent months there has been a whole series of brutal beatings and stabbings of lone whites, generally young males, in the area. The police have been warned repeatedly that unless they cracked down on the gangs of racist thugs responsible, someone was going to get killed.

Now it's happened, but the police are still turning a blind eye to the root cause of the problem.

When will they learn?

When will they do something?

When white people organise to apply political pressure to make them, that's when.

A good start was made in Oldham at the start of the month. And there'll be more from the BNP on this subject very shortly.

jected, they disappear from the official figures and their bill vanishes completely in normal welfare state costs.

The real figures quoted in the Sunday Times were produced by the Immigration Service Union, and have never been contradicted by the government or by Home Office officials. ISU spokesman John Tincey told a Freedom reporter at the end of last month that, despite various changes to the way in which the figures are kept, the Government's estimates still understate the real cost of the Thousands and thousands and thousands of asylum seekers...costing millions and millions and millions out of your pocket every year! Isn't it time we put our own people first?

asylum flood.

He dismissed the Government's costings as fundamentally unreliable: "The problem with Barbara Roche's figures is that it's difficult to distinguish what she's talking about."

To make things even worse, it seems likely that the ISU estimate itself underestimated the real total cost.

For example, it made no effort to include the extra policing bill and the problems caused by scarce resources being diverted from other local and national government projects into helping asylum seekers.

If all the factors were taken into account, it is likely that even our own headline would be an under-estimate.

A figure of £5 billion a year is probably more realistic. And just in case you can't quite get your head around that, take a look at it written another way: £5,000,000,000.

That's an awful lot of extra nurses, bobbies on the beat, school repairs and tax cuts!

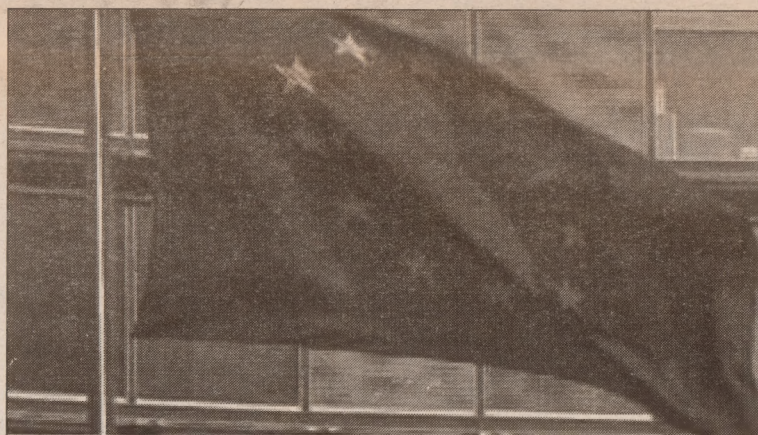

Don't forget, though, even though Tony Blair's responsible for taking that little lot out of our pockets, we're all still paying for the asylum seekers the Tories let in when they were in power, and the Lib-Dems only complaint is that we're not letting even more in. William Hague may talk tough about locking up new arrivals, but he's not so ready to tell us which lucky group of taxpayers would have to pay to build and equip his all-mod-concentration camps!

The truth is that when it comes to spending our money on asylum seekers, there's no difference between the Tories, Lib-Dems or Labour. They're all the same – they're all to blame!

SLAUGHTERED! ON THE ALTAR OF FREE TRADE!

The mass slaughter of thousands of sheep, cattle and pigs is the direct result of the 'free trade' policies of the Labour government and the Tory and Lib-Dem 'opposition'. The foot-and-mouth disaster "is an accident that's been waiting to happen," according to the Consumer Association's Harriet Kimbell, a member of the governmental advisory committee on BSE. "Anything could be coming in."

The root cause of the problem is that Lib-Lab-Con support for 'free trade' has led to all the scrapping of the old restrictions against the import of foodstuffs from countries where diseases such as foot-and-mouth are endemic. A mixture of greed for quick profits and political enthusiasm for 'globalism' has led directly to the shooting and burning of thousands of farm animals. Mass bankruptcy of thousands of farmers and the loss of even more British jobs are sure to follow as well. There is no doubt at all that the foot-and-mouth virus was imported from abroad. The strain now tearing the heart out of our countryside was first identified in northern India in 1990 and has since spread to the

The blame lies with the EU as well as with Blair

Far East and to countries such as Bulgaria and Turkey. The only question is exactly how did it get here? According to Yves Cheneau, head of the United Nations Animal Health, Food and Agriculture Organisation, the highly contagious virus can be spread not only over relatively short distances by contact between animals or on the wind, but it can also jump thousands of miles on human carriers.

The UN official has warned that tourists and refugees constitute "a real danger" when it comes to spreading foot-and-mouth.

This fact highlights the criminal stupidity of the New Labour Government which, like its Tory predecessor, has allowed hundreds of thousands of bogus asylum seekers to pour in from countries where the disease is rampant. When it's been known for years that many of them promptly become part of the black market labour army that has pushed down agricultural wages in Britain, it's obvious that disaster was only a matter of time. But, from what is known at present, it seems more likely that the foot-and-mouth epidemic is the result of the other globalist 'Big Idea' – free trade.

As one meat importer, who asked not to be named, told the press last week: "Meat is coming in from all over the world, without any inspection and certainly none for foot-and-mouth." This deadly situation has arisen for two reasons. First, as The Times pointed out on 28th February: "Britain has almost no national control over what is allowed in. It is the EU that lays down standards, grants the licences and carries out random veterinary checks." When Ted Heath, Margaret Thatcher, John Major and Tony Blair each signed over more and more power to Brussels, they also gave away our rights to protect our industries from foreign competition and our animals from imported disease. Second, Tory and Labour governments alike are so blindly in favour of 'free trade' that they have deliberately refused to do anything to protect British industry – including agriculture – from unfair foreign competition from countries with starvation-level wages, no social security system to pay for, no health and safety rules to obey and no animal welfare provisions.

As a result, meat from any one of the 30 or more countries which had foot-and-mouth last year could have been imported perfectly legally, without any need for it to be inspected. That's why all those pigs, cattle and even newborn lambs are being shot. That's why huge palls of smoke hang over our countryside.

That's why your food bill is rising. That's why more farmers than ever will be committing suicide this year. Blair and Co. didn't just sit on the foot-and-mouth time bomb, they imported the bloody thing!

Thousands of animals have been needlessly slaughtered!

The EU has forced the closure of thousands of abattoirs

LABOUR MUGS COAL MINE PENSIONERS

Gordon Brown is robbing thousands of retired miners and their widows! Despite sitting on a huge budget surplus, the greedy New Labour Chancellor is stealing hundreds of millions of pounds from the Mineworkers' Pension Scheme (MPS).

The MPS was set up many years ago to invest money to provide pensions for Britain's coal miners and their widows. Back in 1994, with privatisation and widespread pit closures going through, the Conservative Government did a deal with the fund's trustees to guarantee miners' pensions, in exchange for the Treasury taking up to half of the an-

Since then, however, the fund has increased in value far more than expected, so that the Treasury has now raked off a staggering £5 billion of miners' pension money. Meanwhile, the average pension for the 300,000 members of the Mineworkers' Pension Scheme is just £44 per week. And, according to a government report in 1998, 28,000 retired miners receive less than £10 per week!

Yet this year alone, Miners are seeing Gordon Brown and Co. take a whopping £525 million of their pension money.

To add to the injury and sense of injustice felt by the miners over New Labour's rip-off, the former mining communities devastated by Tory/Labour globalisation policies are among the poorest places in the country. Not surprisingly, there is now an active campaign in every coal mining (or rather, ex-coal mining) community in Britain to stop Gordon Brown's Sheriff of Nottingham act. The Coalfield Communities Campaign is based in Barnsley and is lobbying MPs and Ministers, and will be taking advantage of the forthcoming general election to pile the pressure on New Labour to stop taking the miners' money.

The campaigners are pressing for a reduction in the Government's rake-off from the fund surplus, and for the Government to agree to spend a larger proportion of what it does take back into coalfield communities.

Freedom can't help wondering why the Government should get a penny of the miners' money, and why it can't be left to the people in those communities to use the surplus from their own funds to support the things they know their local area needs. But if the Coalfield Communities Campaign gets them a bigger share of their own cake, then at least it's a start, so we wish them well.

THE BNP AND RACE

The BNP is best known for its policy on race and immigration. The BNP opposes immigration into the UK from whatever its source. For forty years this immigration has primarily been coloured. But it is not an issue of colour since the party is equally opposed to immigration from Albania and Eastern Europe.

The BNP is not a 'race supremacist' party. The BNP does not claim that any one race is superior to any other, simply that they are different. The party merely wishes to preserve those differences which make up the rich tapestry of human kind.

Neither has the BNP any connection with 'race hate'. Indeed it is the multi-racists who are the haters since it is they who are determined to destroy all cultures and all races to achieve a multi-racial mish-mash.

To protect and preserve the racial and cultural integrity of the British people — and of others too, the party believes in separation.

Only in a Black society will Black kids find true Black role models. Only in a Muslim society will Muslims find their religion free from Western influence. All peoples need a homeland. The British too need a homeland.

Nor are the BNP 'racist'. Indeed, the BNP are resisting the racist colonisation of Britain in which the native people of Britain are having their culture suppressed, their land colonised and are being discriminated against on racial grounds.

To sum up, the BNP is fighting for the very right to exist of not just the British, but of all peoples.

Readers of The Voice of Freedom will have noticed that the February issue of the party's paper was full colour in place of the usual spot colours. For just an extra £90, the party decided to celebrate Freedom's first anniversary with a little extra colour for one month only. We hope it put a smile on the faces of all our readers, members, supporters, hard-working activists and Organisers. If feedback concerning this development is positive and it is practical, a full-colour Freedom may become the norm.

UNDERCOVER SCOOP OF THE MONTH!

PROPAGANDA AND THE BBC

The sort of people who have the most power and influence at the BBC can use the very powerful tools of radio and television to impose their own particular worldview on to the rest of the British public. Freedom investigative journalist Phil Edwards goes undercover to interview key BBC personnel and to expose their sinister power...

Under the BBC's Charter the Corporation is required by law to "Entertain, Educate and Inform". The concept of entertainment is easily understood, but the BBC gives out information, for example in their news bulletins, in a very selective way.

With 'racial' incidents where the victims are black, (e.g. the Steven Lawrence murder), they spend a disproportionate amount of time going over the same ground time and again, yet the many similar racial incidents involving white people are usually unreported. In contrast, the BBC never report the race of an offender, when asked they consider it to be "irrelevant", although how they can be sure of that conclusion until all the evidence has been studied is not clear.

When we get to "Educate" we can see the awesome power of radio and television in shaping the climate of public opinion, a good and current example being one of my favourite programmes The Archers on Radio 4, the longest running radio drama in the world.

When it started in 1951 it was used to inform listeners about country matters. It still discusses current issues like GM crops or Set Aside and the earnest way in which characters do this indicates "education" is still a vital part of the series. The editor of The Archers, Vanessa Whitburn, told me in interview that "...now we are purely entertainment, still informative, but not hand in glove with the government in that way..." Oh really?

When listening, it is perfectly clear that the producer and writers inhabit a different world to that occupied by ordinary folk (perhaps that's why its original description as "an everyday story of country folk" was dropped many years ago).

Something like five million people tune in to The Archers every day and the whole thing is repeated in an omnibus edition every Sunday. The latest piece of Politically Correct indoctrination in the story line has led to the farcical situation of spoilt, young, rich brat Kate Aldridge, arriving home from a year's dissipation in Africa, pregnant with the child of a Xhosa tribesman!

Before Kate's boyfriend (Lucas)

made his appearance in Ambridge and his race was known, her father (Brian) said to his second daughter Debbie, in a rather concerned tone "...he's not black is he...?" Now, when I heard that I thought "well said, Brian Aldridge", a normal reaction, a voice of sanity at last.

But, the anti-racist torrent Debbie then unleashed upon her father was evidently designed as a lesson for all fathers who might wish to express their reservations about their daughters consorting with Xhosa tribesmen.

In my interview with Whitburn, I raised this point in Brian's defence and she responded by saying: "Debbie's point of view is that colour is irrelevant..." When I asked if that was the sort of message the programme was trying to put over she replied unequivocally "Yes - Debbie believed that what he said was racist.

He did have problems initially with Lucas' colour and Debbie slapped that down because it was racist". There was no other point of view allowed. I raised the point that according to the latest Government AIDS/HIV survey (reported in last month's Freedom) Debbie may now be HIV positive and asked why Lucas had to be black: "It's relevant to rural Britain that a village in England [has a white local girl with a Xhosa tribesman for a boyfriend] simply because we are all relevant to each other in this world".

Brian Aldridge: Branded as 'racist' by BBC

So now you know. Apart from a Xhosa tribesman, Ambridge also has an Asian solicitor who had acid thrown in her face sometime around 1994 by "nationalists" "...people in the National Front, I think they said..." mused Vanessa "...but it was before my time as editor". As usual when black characters are involved, the BBC are ensuring that "Lucas" is portrayed in a very positive light and his lines make him sound very pleasant and reasonable, whereas yokel Eddie Grundy was recently portrayed as a typical red neck, making comments like "I expect you walk everywhere in Africa... or do you sit on the top of the bus" and "...I bet you feel the cold in England..." and "...I expected to see you wearing your robes." No one else in Ambridge has commented adversely on the presence of a Xhosa tribesman in Ambridge, let alone his seduction of a local girl.

Radio 4 has two live phone-in programmes each week, the Wednesday "Exchange" and Saturday's "Any Answers", both very selective in whom they allow on air. On a recent edition of the Exchange covering asylum seekers, it seemed that the only callers allowed to speak against allowing aliens into the UK had foreign accents - BBC "balance" at its most bizarre.

The presenter, Wendy Austin, made a comment during the programme, which seemed to suggest that there should be an amnesty and that "people should be able to live where they want". When I telephoned Miss Austin for an account of these comments she was very uncomfortable indeed and explained that she was not expressing an opinion but asking a question to prompt a response from listeners - although it sounded at the time as though she supported such an idea - but I guess I misinterpreted what she said. Strangely, I don't recall Miss Austin stimulating the listeners with anti-asylum seeker comments.

"WE WILL REMEMBER THEM" BNP Ex-Servicemen back campaign to restore hero's memorial

On September 29th, 1944, Corporal Johnny Harper was with a platoon from the 4th Battalion the York and Lancaster Regiment trying to cross a dyke near the Belgian-Dutch border in the face of fierce German resistance.

With his commander killed and under heavy fire, Cpl. Harper took charge, attacked an enemy position and knocked out a machine gun nest, capturing four prisoners sin-sight of something brass glinting in a rubbish skip while the building was being renovated.

Pulling it out, he was shocked to find that the plaque in memory of one of the town's bravest sons had been thrown out with a pile of builders' rubble. When word of this got around, local stalwarts of the Royal British Legion and the Doncaster British National Party got to work to publicise the case, to get per-gle-handed. Then, still under heavy fire, he went in search of a crossing point, found one and contacted neighbouring British troops, then returned to his men to tell them how to cross safely, before falling mortally wounded. His actions that day helped to carry an important objective, and won him the Victoria Cross.

Some years later, Johnny Harper's bravery received a different kind of recognition. In that now bygone pre-PC time when it was still acceptable to bring children up to value heroism, sacrifice and the virtues of our forebears, his story was turned into a front-page comic strip in the boys' magazine Victor.

Meanwhile, back in his hometown of Doncaster, South Yorkshire, a brass plaque commemorating Corporal Harper's deeds and his VC was put up in the local hospital. And so it remained until, not long ago, a sharp-eyed ex-soldier caught mission to have the plaque restored and remounted, and to raise funds for a new memorial.

Clare Short promotes a version of globalisation which makes the poor poorer, while enriching big business. A recent World Bank study found that forcing developing countries to open their doors to foreign companies further impoverishes the poorest 40%.

The General Agreement on Trade in Services, which the UK Government will be supporting at international negotiations later this month, will force the privatisation of health, education and other public sector services all over the world.

The foot-and-mouth outbreak is a result of the kind of globalisation Clare Short supports. It's believed to have come from pork imported from South

Even by the lunatic standards of EU bureaucracy, the 'hygiene' regulations that have enforced the closure of hundreds of small local abattoirs are an utter disgrace.

Many of the small craft slaughterhouses that have gone arguably had higher standards than the big industrialised plants favoured by Brussels and our own Ministry of Agriculture.

WHITES BEWARE!

You read it first in Freedom! With our front page at the very beginning of last June, Freedom was the first national circulation newspaper to break the story of the vicious attack by Asian racists on Chris Clayton.

This in turn was a follow up to a whole string of articles about the growing problem of anti-white racist attacks in Oldham, which the BNP's paper has been reporting since 1998.

Back in January, we asked when the mainstream national press would finally be forced by events to break their self-imposed censorship on the wave of unprovoked racist violence? In the end, the date turned out to be February 11th, when the Mail on Sunday at last broke ranks and ran a full page spread under the heading 'Whites Beware.' The Mail regurgitated all the items about Oldham published in Freedom over many months, adding very little except to say that its own reporter and photographer had to be 'rescued' from a gang of young Asians by a community leader! The paper also confirmed what we've been saying for several years: "White people do not walk here after dark - and their cars are sometimes stoned if they drive through."

And we're first on other important but Politically Incorrect issues too. Freedom was the first British paper to publicise the dangers posed by the growing heterosexual AIDS epidemic among Africans, and individuals who have slept with Africans. Yet again, the Mail picked up our story, publishing it nearly a month later.

We've known for some time that various journalists regularly look at our website for stories and background information. Now it seems that the Mail at least has discovered that Freedom is a good source of the latest, hardest-hitting new stories!

This newscutting from the Mail on Sunday speaks for itself!

IRELAND IN DANGER!

Ireland is rapidly ceasing to be Irish. This was the bleak picture painted on a recent Newsnight programme on BBC1, which showed how the country is being transformed by the arrival of thousands of 'refugees'.

The rate of change has been described as breathtaking and, when you consider that Eire has a population of only three-and-a-half million (about half the figure for London) it is easy to see how the Irish could rapidly become a minority in their own country. Ten years ago, Ireland had just nine asylum applications. Last year the figure for new arrivals was 18,000, and this year it is expected to be 30,000.

Many Irish people are far from happy and, according to many commentators, the wave of immigration is creating serious racial tensions. One African on the programme related how he no longer felt safe walking Irish streets after dark after being assaulted by locals who told him that "blacks aren't welcome in Ireland." Jackie Healy-Rea, the Independent MP for part of rural western

As a progressive party, we actively promote inclusion and combat prejudice and injustice. As we enter a new millennium, we need to recognise that the influence of other cultures and heritages are positive and enhance us all."

seen abroad as a 'soft touch.' He also points out that the homeless problem in Kilmaree is being made worse by the presence of so many outsiders.

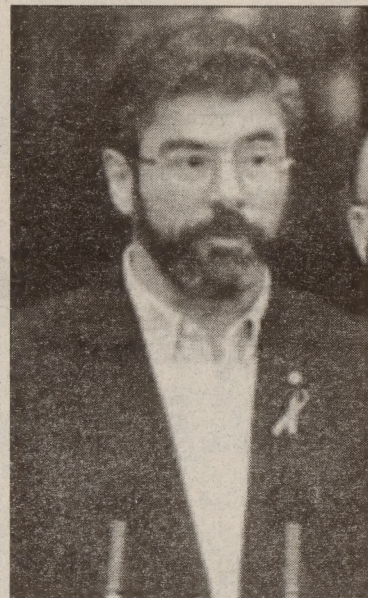

As part of the liberal drive to force multiculturalism into every corner of Europe, Irish schools are to be the focus of "an initiative to broaden minds." A Somali refugee was shown putting Irish youngsters through a guilt trip in a role-playing exercise in which he pretended to be an aggressive immigration officer and they played the poor oppressed 'refugees'.

One of the victims of this anti-Irish brainwashing exercise was then shown saying that "we have to come to terms quickly," and the whole class was portrayed as having got the message that multiculturalism is both desirable and inevitable.

As the report drew to a close, Ireland's Justice Minister John O'Donoghue claimed that the Irish are going to have to learn the benefits of 'diversity' and appreciate the advantages of multiculturalism. Neither he nor the programme attempted to answer the simple question: "Why?"

The dangers facing our European cousins - and often our relatives - in Ireland today cannot be overstated. The current wave of immigration is the biggest challenge in Ireland's entire history - the struggle to keep Ireland Irish.

The old differences between republicans and loyalists pale into insignificance by comparison. It's no longer a question of who rules the Irish, but of whether the Irish will even exist in just a couple of generations. As the real Gerry Adams, President of Sinn Féin, wants a multiracial, non-Irish Ireland!

If Labour get their way in scrapping Section 28, and it looks like they will, homosexuality will soon be taught in the school classroom, whether you object to it or not. And not just to adolescent teenagers mind you, but to little toddlers as well. If that doesn't sicken and outrage you then the planned schools sex education video "A Whole Approach to Sex Education" should!

remember that we all have a 'sexual career' and for many this will include homosexual experiences at some time in their lives."

After the gay mafia finally managed to see to it that the age of consent for homosexuals was reduced from 18 - 16, Tony Blair told a cheering crowd that he wanted to bring the UK's laws on homosexuals more into line with the rest of Europe's existing heterosexual consensual laws. In Malta, Holland, Portugal and Spain for example, the age of consent is just 12! Other European nations average between 14 and 16.

So if Labour get their way, the age of consent will soon be reduced to just 14.

Jack Straw said that the lowering the age of consent for homosexual men was all about creating a British society "free from prejudice."

Once the age of consent has been reduced to 14, the next logical step for the gay mafia is to pressure government to reduce it further still. According to 'insiders' there are an estimated 40 homosexual Labour members of parliament! Just how low will these politicians go?

The Voice of Freedom says: If an adult were to have sex with a 14-year-old, then he or she would be classed as a paedophile! However, if Labour reduces the age of consent to just 14, that person would no longer be classed as a paedophile! This is why paedophiles and homosexuals can be found together in 'gay' pressure groups such as Outrage. Their agenda isn't about 'sexual equality' it's about legalising paedophilia, and our children are about to be brainwashed in school as a result!

In a bid to maintain street credibility and a vice-like grip on crack cocaine dealing in London's criminal underworld, black Yardie gangsters have now resorted to enforcing their illegal trade with Israeli-made Uzi sub-machine guns!

With street nicknames like "Instant Justice" and "Street Sweeper" it's hardly surprising that the Metropolitan Police Commissioner Sir John Stevens has now set up a special task force from Scotland Yard called 'Operation Trident' in a bid to smash gun crime before parts of London resemble that of a war-zone.

Operation Trident Commander Mike Fuller, said: "There is real concern about the type of weapons that we are seeing now and the numbers we are recovering. It raises questions about how many guns are out there and who is bringing them in."

A Uzi submachine gun was used to spray bullets outside Chicago's nightclub in Peckham, South London, last year when eight people were injured.

Last July, a victim was riddled with five bullets in different parts of his body, near Coldharbour Lane Brixton, from a Mac 10 sub-machine gun. Stray bullets passed over a nearby empty school playground highlighting the frightening damage and untold suffering gun crime can cause to innocent people caught up in gang feuding.

Terry Gander, a guns expert, said: "These are modern weapons and very different from the sawn-off shotgun and the old service revolver you used to associate with crime."

These are symbols of authority as well as weapons. They give respect on the street. If you are a drug dealer and you are waving an Uzi around then people will take a lot more notice of you."

Since Operation Trident was launched, police have recovered more than 51 guns, mostly handguns, and made 188 arrests. In recent months, police have reported an increase in the confiscation of

A Yardie gangster back home in Jamaica sporting his gun

Glock handguns - standard issue for police forces - and the Israeli-made Desert Eagle handgun, the most powerful automatic pistol on the market!

Police have more or less admitted that they are fighting a losing war over gun crime in London. Despite making arrests and seizing guns from Yardie gangsters, more weapons are still pouring into London's criminal underworld. Commander Mike Fuller said: "...The reassuring thing is that we are recovering them and they are being taken out of criminal hands. We have some of the best detectives in the force and we are getting excellent results."

Peter Tatchell and his mob of militant homosexuals wield more power over Tony Blair than millions of ordinary voters would sooner poison their little minds instead with 'fairy stories' of their own.

The video, to be shown in all schools when Section 28 is repealed, will teach young toddlers what 'anal sex' is all about and that it is normal and healthy and nothing to be ashamed of!

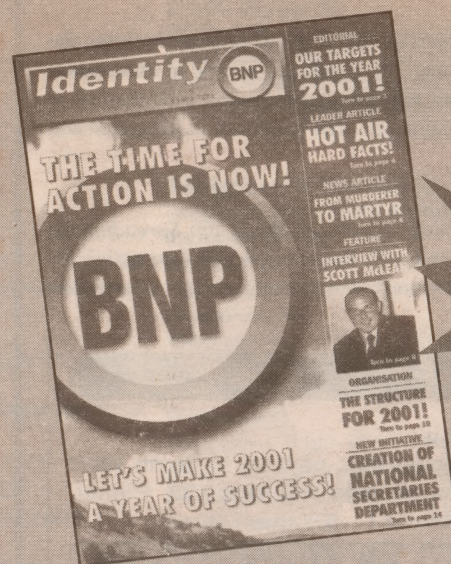

Furthermore, the 'teaching pack' enclosed with the video asks teachers "not to promote any type of family or home life as the norm."

Referring to Section 28's prohibition of promoting homosexuality, the producers of the sex education guide claim in it that "the law does not apply to individual teachers or schools and does not limit teaching about the issue...Teachers should

TOTALITARIANISM IN GERMANY

The leftwing German government is going to absurd lengths in its efforts to close down its country's nationalist organisations before they become a focus for popular resistance to forcible integration in the European superstate.

As well as using secret policemen to infiltrate and disrupt the patriotic opposition by spreading dissension and posing as extremists to frighten the public, the government is also in the process of applying to the country's highest court for permission to ban the National Democratic Party.

But, being Germans, the left-liberals in power are nothing if not thorough, so now they've come up with another stunt.

GERHARD SCHRÖDER:
German Prime Minister

They have announced that they will try to lure key activists away from the 'far-right' by offering bribes of thousands of pounds each, plus help finding new homes and jobs away from their home areas.

The scheme is expected to cost more than £30,000 for each activist and, according to Der Spiegel magazine, key figures in the nationalist movement have already been approached to see who can be bought.

The government is run by a Social Democrat/Green coalition which has recently been under pressure over revelations that some of its key figures were active and violent Communists during the 1960s.

In their fanatical hatred of any display of patriotism they are once again showing their true extremist colours.

And, according to some opposition spokesmen, they are showing that they haven't managed to shake off their old lack of commonsense either.

The Prime Minister of the state of Thuringia, for example, has warned that the scheme could backfire spectacularly, and lead to even more people joining 'far-right' parties and getting active as organisers so as to qualify for state bribery!

THE WEST BOMBS IRAQ!

Saddam Hussain:
Iraqi dictator

Once again, America and Britain have launched air attacks against Iraq. The Blair government has "justified" the attack by stating that it is to avoid our pilots being shot down in the "no-fly zones" above Iraq.

For one, how can Blair and Bush expect Iraq to tolerate foreigners not allowing their own planes to fly over parts of their own country, yet while being expected to allow those same hostile foreigners to roam over them at will?

And two, they ignore the fact that not one single American or British jet has been shot down over these "no-fly zones" in the last decade.

Yet more allegations that Iraq has "weapons of mass destruction" have followed. America claims that its military satellites can see a man on a street corner smoking a cigar, and yet these same satellites have been covering every inch of Iraqi sand for the last ten years and have come up with nothing!

We feel it has more to do with appeasing the powerful Israeli lobby in Washington than any genuine humanitarian sentiments.

CHINESE BUTCHER ST. BERNARDS' DOGS

St Bernards' dogs, world famous for their gentleness and use as rescue dogs for avalanche victims are now being bred in China solely for human consumption.

The Swiss parliament is to investigate the scandal and a petition signed by 11,000 St Bernard breeders and owners worldwide was submitted to the Swiss government by SOS St Bernard International, a Geneva-based group. Chinese dog-breeders prefer St Bernard dogs because their 'gentle disposition' makes them relatively easy to breed. The St Bernard dog is callously known as the "Big Dumb Dog" by Chinese meat dog breeders. The Chinese say that the meat of a St Bernard is delicious. "It is more nutritious than normal dog meat," said a meat farmer.

There are no animal cruelty laws in China and domestic animals have no protection.

There is widespread evidence that 'meat dogs' are deliberately tortured just before slaughter in the belief that adrenaline improves their meat.

ONE NATION MAKES A BIG COMEBACK!

Pauline Hanson:
One Nation Leader

One Nation party, led by former Fish 'n' Chip shop owner Pauline Hanson, has bounced back in recent Australian elections to take almost 37 percent of the vote and has won three seats!

The party the Australian establishment declared was "finished", thanks to infighting, financial difficulties and legal assaults, has now bounced back and shaken the very foundations of the system.

One Nation campaigned on the massive Asian immigration problem and the disastrous economic and social effects of globalisation. After their success, the usual frenzy from the globalist mass-media followed, with whines about "Nazism", "racism" and "extremism" etc.

But the frenzied media attack has only helped the growth and further success of One Nation as more people are seeing through the lies!

The Australian General Election is due later this year, and despite One Nation not being perfect in many ways, the future of Australian nationalism is looking bright!

As if asylum seekers haven't suffered enough! I have now learned that some of the ones now settled in Leicester were recently threatened with having their brand new cookers repossessed.

The initial generosity of Leicester City Council in spending £4,000 of their council taxpayers' money on the free ovens evaporated after they claimed that the wrong ovens had been installed.

The supplier, David Punter, proprietor of Reggie Smart's household goods store in Green Lane Road, North Evington, denied this and said that the council had brought 15 cookers from him but had only paid for 9, prompting him to consider legal repossession proceedings.

Mr Punter said: "It seems I was supporting asylum seekers out of my own pocket". VoF readers will understand exactly what he means!

Phil Edwards,
National Press Officer

The South of Britain annual rally was excellent and it was good to see so many there. A thoroughly good day enjoyed by all those who attended from Leicester.

Certainly enthused - and without the overt fanaticism - I think there are exciting times ahead.

The complete programme of speeches, testimonials, presentation and backdrop were a real treat especially capped by Jerusalem - keep up the good work! The very best

Graham Eustace

I had to write in just to say that I rang the main party phone line, and was assisted by a very helpful lady, who was interested in what I had to say.

This makes a change from the normal rudeness in these Politically Correct days when the renowned reputation of British manners has been lost in pursuit of a liberal vision that is completely flawed in logic and basic decency.

I've no doubt that the BNP will soon make a breakthrough, to break the awful stagnation that pervades British politics.

"DON'T GIVE IT ALL AWAY," RED INDIAN TELLS WHITES

Dr. David Yeagley, a Commanche Indian, has made a powerful plea for 'white pride' education in the USA.

He has proposed to the Oklahoma Legislature that high schools in the state should offer an optional course in patriotism. Yeagley, who teaches humanities at Oklahoma State University, believes that a revival of national loyalty is necessary to stem the destructive effect of political correctness and multiculturalism, especially mass Mexican immigration.

"As an Indian," says Yeagley, "I feel it is my sacred duty to save the white man again, this time from himself. The first time was when Indians helped the early settlers survive the harsh New England winters. Today, he warns, 'white guilt is the biggest flaw in the American psyche.'"

Yeagley has no guilt about the behaviour of his own ancestors, but neither is he naïve about it.

"The Commanches were the lords of the south plains. They kicked out all the other Indians. They had no tolerance for other Indians, no tolerance for white people. They had no tolerance for anybody except themselves."

"America," says Dr. Yeagley, "has held out (an) offer of charity for all, that everyone ... can have a better life. But if you want to be kind to people and charitable and indulgent, you have to do it from a position of strength, otherwise you lose the ability to do good for anybody."

"I'm trying to come to the rescue here and say to the white man, look, don't destroy everything you have. If you don't want the country, give it back to me! Don't give it away to someone else."

EXCELLENT DEWSBURY MEETING!

In spite of blizzard-like conditions, more than 60 people attended a meeting of the re-formed Dewsbury Branch to hear talks by BNP National Press Officer Dr Phil Edwards and Party Chairman Nick Griffin.

Dewsbury's new Branch Organiser Nick Cass opened the meeting, introducing the guests, and thanking everyone for making the effort to attend in such extreme weather. He then spoke briefly about the Party in Dewsbury and about the work he and other activists are engaged in.

Mr Cass said that the BNP's greatest strength is that it deals in facts and truth, unlike its opponents whose currency is evasion and double talk.

Dr Phil Edwards spoke about political correctness and how it serves to oppress the British people. He said that the real racists were the multiculturalists whose long-term aim is the merging and thus destruction of all the races of mankind. Dr Edwards emphasised that the BNP values racial differences, and unlike the establishment political parties, its policies really will help preserve the "rich tapestry of human kind."

Party Chairman Nick Griffin expressed his concern at the growth of racial attacks committed against White people.

He said that government statistics clearly show that the ethnic minorities are responsible for the greater proportion of race-hate crimes, yet in spite of this the politicians and establishment media act as though the reverse was the case! Mr Griffin said that the blame for inter-racial strife in this country lay with the politicians, the establishment media and with their multiracial experiment, not with the ethnic minorities or whites.

He said an increasing number of people are unhappy with the mess that our politicians have made of this country, and that they are looking for an alternative. To applause, he emphasised that the British National Party is that alternative.

After the speeches everyone enjoyed an excellent buffet and the guests mingled with their audience.

Even though the snow continued to fall, no one was in a rush to leave. The meeting was a resounding success, and a collection for the Branch election fund raised over £350 - one member of the audience donating £100!

Over 60 people turned out to see party Chairman Nick Griffin address the re-launch of Dewsbury Branch!

AFBNP HOLDS ITS OWN "RED-WHITE-AND-BLUE"

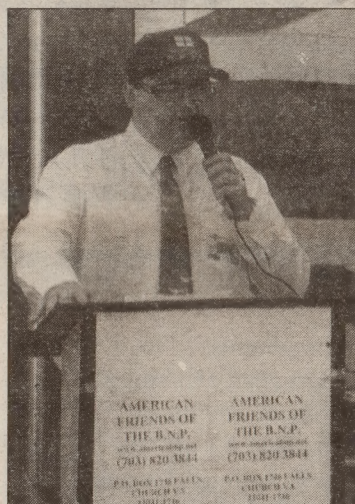

On Sunday February 17, more than fifty American Friends of the BNP held their own Red-White-and-Blue event in Port St. Lucie on Florida's treasure coast.

The venue was the home of one of the group's founding members, the Rev. John Alder of the European-American Episcopal Church, who provided very generous hospitality. Refreshments during the day included traditional British beers and fish-and-chips, as well as more American items such as New England clam chowder.

The meeting had a great line up of both British and American speakers, including Paul Thompson who had flown all the way from England to be at the event. The meeting was chaired by Roxane Gonseth, a Nationalist activist of many years from northern Florida. A letter of greeting from BNP Chairman Nick Griffin was read out to all those present.

AFBNP chairman Mark Cotterill then spoke about the progress being made on both sides of the 'Pond'. The event ended with a very emotional closing ceremony, complete with bagpipe music and a commemoration of twenty British-American and British martyrs who had died for Britain, the Confederacy and the patriotic cause.

In Brief.....

DISGRACE!

The Met is poised to cough up £1m to a black activist who made complaints of harassment against 47 police officers and branded them racist bullies. The police officers concerned may now sue Scotland Yard in turn. People should bear in mind that Winston Silcott's family didn't get a penny after he was racially murdered in the early 80s.

MORE "ENRICHMENT"!

A gang of four 'cheeky' female Romanian shoplifters stopped a chasing store boss by lifting their skirts and baring their buttocks. Police said: "Maybe they were trying to indicate they weren't hiding any property there."

THEY NEED MORE THAN PRAYERS!

Answering allegations that the Tories haven't got a prayer in the next election, members of the Conservative Christian Fellowship are being asked to pray for leader William Hague's frontbench team and the party's headquarters.

So ended the 2001 Florida Red, White and Blue, with all those attending saying the event was a great success. Comradeship and moral was at an all time high. The BNP's American Friends are on a roll!

OLDHAM POLICE STATION DEMONSTRATION

After our North of Britain Rally (see page 11), Party Chairman Nick Griffin called on those present to follow him down to the local police station for a demonstration against the growing number of anti-white racist attacks against whites in the town.

Over 100 BNP activists and almost 20 local people who joined in chanted "Rights for Whites", and took up what used to be an immigrant slogan, but is now a phrase that is becoming all too relevant to white people in places like Oldham: "Racist attacks - we fight back!"

While Tony Lecomber went inside to talk to the duty officer, Nick Griffin gave another short speech on the megaphone, and led more chanting.

Meanwhile, local activists handed the specially produced leaflets to passers-by, a number of whom - young males, a pair of teenage girls and several mums with prams - promptly joined in the protest, which later received excellent coverage: "Up to a hundred supporters of the controversial British National Party rallied outside Oldham Police Station at the weekend in a pro-white protest.

The group, who came from across Britain for the rally, handed out leaflets, held a banner and used a loud speaker to get their message, 'Equal Rights for Oldham Whites', heard. Police say the short protest, at 5.30pm on Saturday, passed off without incident.

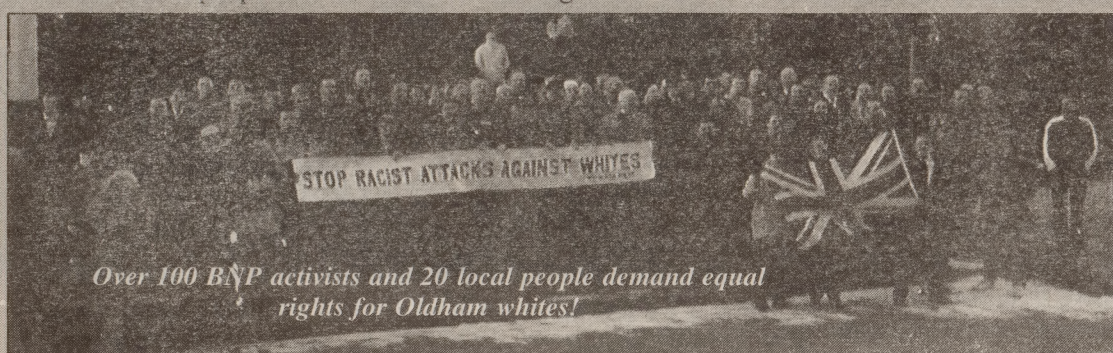

And Sgt David Cooper, of the Racial Incident Unit, said: 'The group appeared to be well organised, well-disciplined and co-ordinated. There was nothing particularly racially inflammatory about what they said. They demanded positive action and asked the Asian community to extract the small number of hooligans from their community,'" said the next day's Oldham Chronicle.

Special thanks must go to Oldham organiser Mick Treacy and to the Stewarding team.

SOUTH OF BRITAIN RALLY A GREAT SUCCESS!

Huge event backdrop pioneered by the party's publicity department

Rally Chairman Frank Forte

National Press Officer Phil Edwards

The BNP's Northern and Southern Spring rallies were both mega-successful! More than 200 members and new supporters from all over the South of England enjoyed a fantastic event in a plush London hotel, superbly chaired by Frank Forte, and addressed by a whole range of speakers, all on top form. Recent recruits and key party workers alike gave polished performances. Party media supremo Dr. Edwards spoke about the criminal role of the mass media in brainwashing the British to accept the destruction of their country. Administration dynamo Chris Green discussed the efficiency of the new administration department. Director of Publicity Paul Golding spoke about his department's plans and initiatives, calling on people to "take part in the battle of Britain". Director of Group Development Tony Lecomber talked

He concluded by talking about the example giving to us all by Alfred the Great, whose statue features on the striking backdrop which had been unveiled to a burst of applause from all present at the start of the day. "Just as Alfred built this nation once he had overcome terrifying odds and from now!" As he said this, Mr. Griffin lifted the young son of recent recruits sitting in the front row onto the table by the speakers' podium – and the audience went wild. What an ending! The Southern rally closed with the singing of 'Jerusalem,' which yet again proved an emotional and uplifting finale to a great BNP day.

Among the key national officials who addressed this event was the National Treasurer, John Brayshaw, who gave a levelheaded and informative account of how the new restrictions on donations to political parties will affect the BNP and its members.

Frank Forte again ran the collection, which, once the small change had been counted, came to an excellent £2,034.88 – a remarkable average of more than £10 per head, which is an excellent gauge of the enthusiasm at the meeting.

The Northern Spring rally was held in the Lancashire town of Oldham – a place where white people live in constant fear of racial attack by Muslim thugs.

The format was very similar, although this event was chaired by the BNP's popular Deputy Chairman, Scott McLean. A new group of new speakers made excellent use of their own chance to show the audience of about 170 the calibre of the people getting involved with the party these days. Particularly notable among the newcomers was Dewsbury's Nick Cass, who delighted the crowd by telling them of how he and an activist team had gone out the day before expecting to collect about 30 signatures on a petition against anti-white racial attacks, and had returned home with more than 300! Also particularly well received was Mark Collett, who gave an interesting insight into the struggle of patriotic stu-

At the end of his closing address, National Chairman Mr. Griffin revealed that, after it finished, the party would be holding a demonstration against the anti-white attacks now so common in Oldham outside the town's police station. As two pretty girls unfurled the demo banner, the crowd cheered and poured out to turn the emotion of the moment into concrete political action. Turn to page 9!

Well done to BNP stalwart Colin Smith who donated £2,000 to the cause!

JOIN US!

Britain is approaching the final hour of decision. Will we regain our political freedom, or will our institutions and sovereignty vanish in a federal European empire? Will we start protecting our industries from cut-throat foreign competition, or will we become a low wage historical theme park for wealthy American and Japanese tourists? Will we find the strength to stem and reverse the tide of non-white immigration, or will we become a minority in our own land within 50 years?

These are the choices facing us today. If you do nothing, you automatically become part of the forces driving us to political, economic and ethnic destruction. Fortunately, more and more decent people are deciding not to be part of the problem, and to be part of the drive to put things right again and to save Britain and the British. That's why we find more and more people like you joining the British National Party. All you have to do more to find out more is to ring 0700 900 2671 and ask for a free, no commitment info pack!

What we stand for

In the British National Party

- A massive expansion of Freedom and Democracy to roll back the erosion of our traditional freedoms and truly reflect the wishes of the people; the adoption of popular referenda & hi-tech direct democracy.
- The establishment of a government that puts British interests first.
- An end to immigration and the scandal of bogus asylum-seekers flooding Britain. The use of the billions now wasted in foreign aid to fund generous 'Homeward Bound' schemes to encourage immigrants to return to their lands of origin.
- British withdrawal from the European Union: trade with Europe where it suits us but no political ties, and no monetary union.
- The use of the £1.8 million per hour we at present pay the EU to fund the restoration of an effective National Health Service and proactive measures to produce a healthier population in the first place.
- British ownership and control of British industry and resources including the mass media.
- Protection of British jobs and industry by the selective exclusion of foreign manufactured goods from the British market.
- The introduction of tax incentives and other policies designed to ensure that the City finances British industry rather than foreign competitors.
- The regeneration of British farming, with the object of achieving the maximum self-sufficiency in food; also the restoration of the fishing industry by protection of our traditional fishing grounds.
- A healthy environment for a healthy people — the protection of our countryside; a ban on greenfield-site house building except in cases of genuine local need; an end to field trials of genetically modified crops.
- A crack-down on crime and tougher treatment of criminals, including the return of the death penalty for child killers and terrorists.
- A return to traditional methods of education, with stronger discipline in the classroom and an end to the 'trendy' teaching methods which have failed our children so badly.
- An alternative defence strategy based on the principle of armed neutrality; no British blood should be shed in conflicts which do not involve vital British interests. The restoration of the County Regiment system and reversal of the defence cuts which have weakened our Armed Forces and cost thousands of jobs.
- The crushing of the IRA and other terrorist groups, the termination of the Anglo-Irish agreement and the establishment of a devolved, non-sectarian parliament in Northern Ireland.
- A return to healthy moral values and policies aimed at strengthening the family and community. Tough penalties for corruption in public life.
